- 1) Freewrite for ten minutes about your weekend or about your dream you had

During my weekend, I think I didn't do anything this weekend. Yes I didn't do anything. My work day has been cancelled, so I DIDN'T get any money. Actually, I did something. I was writing my speech presentation and practicing presentation for 5-10 times. The reason I practiced is so I can speak perfectly and I can get an A. The last grade I GOT WAS A B, but that's okay. But I'm the type of person to get a perfect A.

- 2) Describe a place you know well, one that has changed for better or worse.

There was this supermarket that is oddly nostalgic for me as a child. A decent sized grocery shopping center surrounded in a big parking space. Inside was a big open space with organized lanes. That grocery shop was "Pathmark". It was pretty nostalgic for me as a child because I went there many times with my mom. We always grabbed many items, including my favorite snacks.

However, that all changed when Pathmark suddenly closed. I was super sad because of how I won't be able to shop again. However, "Western Beef" was replaced, but it wasn't the same as before.

- 3) Write a list of 5 issues that you care about deeply- why are they important to you?
  1. Free Palestine
  2. Stock issues
  3. Global warming
