- 1) Freewrite
- 2) Have you ever been obsessed? If yes, what was the subject of your obsession? How long did your obsession last? What were the effects on your mind/body? If not, if you have never been what subject do you think could make you feel OBSESSED.

Yes, I have been obsessed. During my childhood, I love Pokémon. It has been my only topic I could share with my friends. I loved the TV show and the games. I get excited when an episode airs or a game comes out. I was jumping up and down when I hear about this topic. My Pokémon phase lasted for like 6 years. Even though I still liked Pokémon in the present, it still doesn't feel the same with my obsession phase.

Conclusion

1. Include a topic sentence
  - Restates your thesis, Main Idea, Main Point, effective way to remind your reader where you began.
2. Use your Introduction as a guide
  - thesis, topics/subtopics, emotional pathos, (logos/ethos) appeal.
3. Summarize main ideas
4. Use a powerful closing sentence leave them with significance
